Washington, D.C. – Rep. Charlie Wilson (OH-6) today announced the date for his summer office hours in Ironton.

“This summer I’m holding office hours at each of my different district offices. I’ve got offices in Ironton, Marietta, Bridgeport, Wellsville and Canfield. I’ll hold open office hours at each office for at least an hour and a half to meet with residents in the area in one-on-one meetings or in small groups,” Wilson said.

The office hours are open to the public and are an opportunity to discuss issues or needs with Rep. Wilson.

Constituents of Ohio’s Sixth Congressional District will be seen on a first come first serve basis as time permits. Visitors will be seen individually or in groups of up to four.

The media is welcome to attend office hours, but the actual meetings between Rep. Wilson and constituents of the Sixth Congressional District are not open to the press to respect constituents’ privacy.
